A LETTER FROM OSPREY WILDS' EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, BRYAN WOOD

Osprey Wilds is many things to many people. To some, it is the place where as a 5th grade student they experienced nature for the first time through their school's visit and felt the unexpected joy of being outdoors. To others, it is the place where they furthered their post-secondary education with hands-on field courses, coming back to learn more season after season. For others, it is the setting of their very first summer camp where they made new friends, swam in the lake, and got to be a free-range kid. Some parents know Osprey Wilds as the authorizer of their child's charter school, where they go every day to further their education. Other adults think of Osprey Wilds and remember the amazing speakers and educators they learned from during an invigorating evening, weekend or weeklong program, accompanied by fabulous food. Still others know Osprey Wilds as their favorite family or nonprofit retreat destination, a place they seek out for their gathering in an uncommonly beautiful setting. And for many of our neighbors, Osprey Wilds is a protected slice of land nestled along Grindstone Lake where they enjoy boating and paddling along our peaceful shoreline, or walking or skiing through our winding trails amidst towering forested canopies and sun-drenched prairies.

Osprey Wilds is all these things and more. And it is because of the support of so many generous people who care – who care about children, who care about the environment, who care about our planet's future – that we are able to make the wide-ranging and far-reaching impact that we do. Every gift, every contribution, every hour volunteered makes a difference. If you are one of the individuals or organizations that has contributed to Osprey Wilds, we are deeply appreciative. Your support influences and shapes the lives of more people than you could possibly know. On behalf of everyone whose life was positively touched by their experience with Osprey Wilds last year, thank you.

The following pages provide a snapshot of the impact that Osprey Wilds was able to achieve thanks to the support of so many. I hope you take pride in and enjoy seeing what we were able to accomplish together.

WITH GRATITUDE,

Bryan Wood,
Executive Director

ABOUT US

Osprey Wilds Environmental Learning Center is a 501(c)(3) public charity, outdoor school, and conference & retreat center located on Grindstone Lake in Sandstone, Minnesota.

MISSION

To instill a connection and commitment to the environment in people of all communities through experiential learning.

VISION

A healthy planet where all people live in balance with the Earth.

CORE VALUES

Healthy Relationships – We demonstrate respect, care and passion for the earth, all people and all living things, recognizing our interconnectedness with each other and the natural world.

Equity – We actively incorporate the lenses of equity and representation in our education, environmentalism, and leadership.

Action – We practice and encourage informed, intentional living that helps restore and maintain healthy ecosystems.

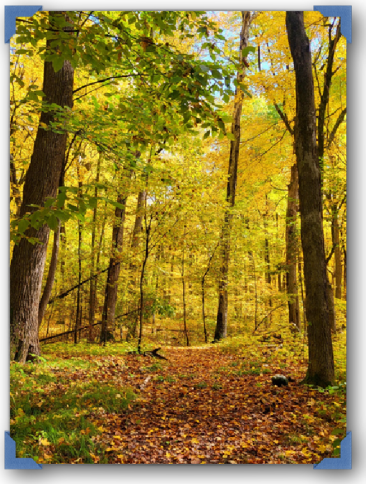

Life-long Learning – We promote life-long learning through positive shared experiences with the natural world.

The initial letters of our core values form the acronym HEAL, a reminder that demonstrating these values can result in healing for ourselves, others, and the planet.

EQUITY STATEMENT

Osprey Wilds actively incorporates the lenses of equity and representation in our education, environmentalism and leadership. We do this by dismantling and re-designing processes and systems to be accessible to and welcoming of all people, creating programs and services in collaboration with diverse communities, and valuing those who work with and for us.

LAND ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Osprey Wilds acknowledges that our property sits upon the ancestral and traditional homelands of Indigenous people, most recently the Ojibwe, whose land was seized by the United States government by the Treaty of 1837 and colonized by European settlers. The Ojibwe continue to reside throughout East Central Minnesota and have a sovereign infrastructure of schools, roads, health care, services, housing, and more. From their ancestors to current day, the Ojibwe are committed to protecting and preserving natural resources. Osprey Wilds shares this commitment and works to ensure responsible care and attention through developing an understanding, ethics, and responsibility regarding the environment through formal and informal teaching that links nature and humans. While land acknowledgment does not deliver justice for the loss of the land and the damage done to people and cultures, Osprey Wilds will continue to deepen our knowledge and relationships, enriching practices that respect and honor the past, present, and future of the region's Indigenous communities.

PROGRAMS

Educational programs are the heartbeat of Osprey Wilds and how we fulfill our mission. During the past fiscal year, we reached thousands of K-12 students, college students, families, and adults through our wide-ranging, accessible programs. Each participant who visits Osprey Wilds experiences something unique to them in nature, and carries that with them when they leave.

As an accredited K-12 school, our outdoor school programs provide important, hands-on experiences for today's youth, immersing them in the outdoors for multiple days at a time and opening their eyes to the beauty and the joy that can be found outdoors. Now more than ever, these outdoor experiences are critical for K-12 students.

While K-12 schools are our largest single audience, our programs offer something for all ages and communities, offering life-long learning opportunities for anyone interested. Last year, we impacted thousands of minds and hearts thanks to your support. We hope you enjoy reviewing the expansive reach our programs had last year. Together, look what we achieved!

K-12 PROGRAMS

73
SCHOOLS

2,943
PARTICIPANTS

Students across Minnesota, and out of state, visited our campus for one-day or multi-day field trips. We had six new schools this year.

Our K-12 on-site programming includes overnight and day visitors from schools and community groups that visit Osprey Wilds.

CHARTER SCHOOL DIVISION

Osprey Wilds carries its mission well beyond our own campus. Minnesota allows a small number of organizations, including Osprey Wilds, to approve and oversee charter schools, which are free public schools that operate independently from school districts.

10,370
STUDENTS

33
SCHOOLS

	OW Authorized Schools (10,370 students)	Minnesota (873,175 students)
Students eligible for free and reduced-price	68.1%	39.0%
Black, Indigenous, or Students of Color	71.6%	38.6%
Students receiving special education services	15.9%	19.5%
English language learners	33.4%	10.6%

Last year, we oversaw 33 schools across the state, and every school had environmental education goals written into its contract. That means thousands of students spend time learning outdoors, studying their local environment, and building a connection to the natural world.

Our job is to make sure these students get a great education. Throughout the year, our staff visited schools 47 times and attended 69 school board meetings to see firsthand how schools are doing. We also reviewed each school's academic results, finances, and leadership. Six schools completed the renewal process, which is a deeper review every few years that determines whether a school earns a new contract. Five received new contracts, and one merged with another Osprey Wilds school.

Last year, it was our turn to be reviewed. Every five years, the Minnesota Department of Education (MDE) evaluates each organization that oversees charter schools. Osprey Wilds received a strong result with no required corrective actions. Reviewers highlighted several practices as models for others, including how we build environmental education into every part of our work, from reviewing new school proposals to visiting classrooms and evaluating schools for renewal.

The year also brought change. The Academy for Sciences and Agriculture closed at the end of the year, after serving students in the north metro for 25 years. Closing a school is always hard, but the school gave generations of students a hands-on education rooted in science and agriculture. Its impact on the community will last well beyond its closing.

Money was tight for many schools. Enrollment shifts, changing federal priorities, and uncertainty about state funding for students from low-income families put pressure on school budgets. Our team continued to strengthen our monitoring so we can identify financial warning signs earlier, and step in with support before a small problem becomes a serious one. Beyond finances, we also trained new board members, shared templates for required plans, and gave focused support to smaller schools with fewer staff. Each spring, we ask schools how we can better support them and use their feedback to shape the next year's work.

Looking ahead, Osprey Wilds will keep doing what it does best: holding schools to high standards while helping them give every student a strong education and a lasting connection to the environment.

HIGHLIGHTS IN OPERATIONS

The operations team at Osprey Wilds has accomplished a lot this year. See below for a series of our proudest highlights from this past fiscal year.

WE HOSTED:

2 weddings

18 family and friends get-to-gethers

30 retreats and conferences

24 day-use rentals ranging from celebrations of life to business meetings

Total revenue $286,580

Provided food for 6 community meals include our own turkey-to-go.

Constructed a new hoop house that will be used for Fall and Winter greens.

Added tv screens to our meeting areas to better service our guests.

Replaced our heat pump in our geothermal system to help with efficiency.

Grew lettuce, spinach, kale, beef steak tomatoes, cherry tomatoes, cucumbers and zucchini at Trapp Farm.

Added a Winter Women's Wellness in February.

Added new washers and dryers for the housekeeping staff thanks to a grant from East Central Energy.

Collected a total of 117 gallons of maple syrup.

Replaced the bridge connecting the north part of our property to our main campus.

Added a UTV to help with trail maintenance and emergencies.

Held 2 volunteer days involving 36 volunteers - highlighted projects included painting the exterior of the staff house.

VALUED DONORS

In fiscal year 2026 alone, your philanthropic good-heartedness transformed the lives of more than 15,000 children and adults! Just over 300 of you made financial gifts totaling more $340,000. Additionally, the center received a generous estate gift of $126,655 and corporate foundation support of $12,500.

All of this support combined provided Osprey Wilds with the program and operational capacity to deliver first-in-class outdoor education experiences while making strategic investments in our future. You can look at the operations and programs pages to see the impact your support made and what we were able to achieve together!

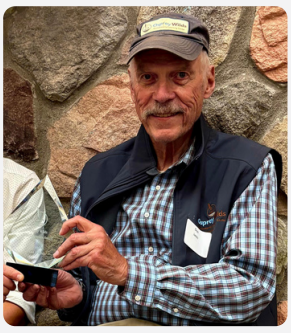

Your support makes a difference. Whether you responded directly to a stated need, are among our dozens of monthly Sustainers, or are among the growing group of donors giving through donor advised funds and qualified charitable distributions, know that your generosity is changing lives. We value your partnership and we simply could not do this important work without you.

As an Osprey Wilds' donor, you are making it possible for thousands of children and adults from all walks of life to make first-time connections to the natural world. These connections are critical to our shared vision of a healthy planet where all people live in balance with the Earth.

OSPREY WILDS' CHAMPION AWARD

Instituted in fiscal year 2026, Osprey Wilds' new Champion Award honors an extraordinary individual who demonstrates an unwavering commitment to our mission through their time, talent, and treasure. This award recognizes those who go above and beyond - sharing their expertise, investing their resources, lending their energy, inviting others to engage, and championing our mission in meaningful ways. This year's recipient of our first-ever Champion Award is Mr. Donald Janes. Don has served on Osprey Wilds' board for nearly 20 years, and, as his peers testify, he leads by example. His thoughtful and well-informed input is always delivered in a respectful way. He is our mission's compass and a voice of integrity.
